NEW TARIFF BILL TO TAKE EFFECT TONIGHT

SMOOT-HAWLEY TARIFF BILL, 18 MONTHS IN MAKING, SIGNED BY PRES. HOOVER

PREPARATIONS SUCH THAT DUTIES BECOME SWIFTLY EFFECTIVE AT ENTRY PORTS

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 17. — President Hoover signed the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill today, thereby making it a law. Its new and higher duties on imports will go into effect at all ports of entry at midnight tonight.

With short and simple ceremony the president fulfilled the requirements of the constitution, proclaiming law the tariff act which congress spent 18 months in making. The house and senate conferees who whipped the measure into its final form were present, led by the co-authors of the bill, Chairman Reed Smoot of the senate finance committee and Chairman Willis Hawley of the house ways and means committee.

Extensive preparations have been made to see that the duties become swiftly effective. Instructions were sent out several days ago by the treasury department to all customs inspectors. These instructions set out the new rates which are to be charged upon imported products.

Only the additional word that Mr. Hoover has now signed the bill is needed to put the vast new rate structure into effect.

There was drama in the president's action despite the fact it was already known that he would sign the bill. All those present realized the president's action presaged a political battle. The opponents of the administration have announced their intention of carrying their fight against the measure to the polls in the coming congressional elections.

To no legislation in the past eight years has so much importance been attached. Its increased duties on sugar, shoes, lumber, cement, bricks and wool and hides, particularly, aroused the senate to the most extensive political debate in recent times. Its alleged influence in curtailing buying power was cited in the senate yesterday by democrats as one of the reasons for the stock market decline.

Just how great the increased duties are is a subject of an intense dispute as the provisions of the bill itself. Mr. Hoover indicated in a statement Sunday night the increase would be only about 2.8 per cent. Smoot's figures have indicated it would be six per cent, while democrats and independent republican opponents of the bill say it will reach 18 or 20 per cent.

Smoot estimated its increased cost would amount to about $107,000,000 a year on the basis of 1928 imports, while the democrats contend the cost will be nearer a billion dollars.

What effect the increases will have on the prices of foodstuffs and clothing also is a matter of debate.

A comparative table of the most important rates as they contrast with those of the old laws may be summarized as follows:

Item	new law	old law
Sugar	2 cents lb (Cuban) 1.75 cents	free
Shoes	20 per cent	free
Soft lumber	$1 per M ft	free
Bricks	$1.25 per M	free
Cement	6 cents per 100 lbs.	free
Long staple cotton	7 cents lb.	free
Hides	10 per cent	free
Casein	5 1/2 cents lb. 2 1/2 cents lb.	free
Pig iron	$1.12 1/2 ton	75 cents
Wheat	42 cents bu.	same
Milk	6 1/2 cents gal. 2 1/2 cents	same
Cattle	2 1/2 & 3c lb. 1 1/2 & 2c	same

The president is not expected to remain silent in the face of his opponents' plan to make an issue of the tariff. It is said at the White House he will issue a series of statements shortly on the business condition of the country in an effort to refute the charges which democrats and independent republicans have made against the bill.

Washington, June 17. — President Hoover may sign the tariff bill and proclaim it a law before night.

Secretary of Treasury Mellon, working with his customs officials was poring their report for several days and a final report on it for presentation to Mr. Hoover. They have been drafting their report for several days and have prepared to put the new duties into effect at midnight tonight if the bill is signed before that time.

As soon as the bill comes back to the White House, Mr. Hoover is expected to affix his signature.

Late returns from Crosby this afternoon gave Fred G. Mayberry a majority over Hope Thabes for county superintendent of schools. The vote for the 37 precincts gave Mayberry 1,448, Thabes, 1,347. The surprise vote came in favor of Harold Molsted who polled a total of 2,247 to clinch a place on the general election ballot. Molstad drew a total of 1,660 votes in Brainerd as against 716 for Hope Thabes his nearest competitor.

nomination for county commissioner of the second district. He polled 454, Fred F. Johnson and H. J. Dickerson were running a close race for second place, Johnson receiving 96 votes and Dickerson, 94.

Contest for Judgeship

In the contest for judge of the 15th judicial district, a three-cornered race, Judge M. E. Ryan of Brainerd is leading, according to incomplete reports received.

The only accurate figures given refer to Crow Wing county where in 31 precincts Judge M. E. Ryan polled 3,131, Frank E. Ebner of Brainerd 1,972 and Alfred L. Thwing of Grand Rapids 338. These 31 precincts out of a total of 54 are from the county, half of the iron range and all of Brainerd.

A report this afternoon received by Judge Ryan's campaign manager indicated Koochiching and Beltrami were recording 2 to 1 for Judge Ryan.

Senator Thwing, telephoning the Dispatch in the early morning hours, said 14 precincts in Itasca county gave Mr. Ebner 144, Judge Ryan 306 and Mr. Thwing 1,147.

Judge Ryan is expected to carry Cass county.

Over half the precincts tabulated in Beltrami county gave Ryan 1,400, Thwing 700, and Ebner 400.

Twenty-one precincts out of 55, 60 per cent of the vote in Koochiching county, gave Ryan 1,305, Thwing 678 and Ebner 388.

Hubbard county, 16 precincts out of 32, gave Ryan 785, Thwing 295 and Ebner 205.

Clearwater county with 20 out of 26 precincts, showed Ryan 200 ahead of Thwing, with Ebner trailing.

Itasca, 47 out of 74 precincts, gave Ryan 824, Thwing 3,210, and Ebner 678.

Aitkin county voted 1,320 votes for Ryan, 1,225 for Ebner and 713 for Thwing, according to returns from 35 precincts there.

Hill City village, Quadra township and Hill Lake township voted 325 for Thwing, 99 for Ryan and 81 for Ebner.

Ryan went into the supposed Thwing stronghold and captured the majority in Bemidji.

Itasca county, the home of Senator Thwing, gave Thwing a large plurality but appears to be insufficient to overcome the lead of Judge Ryan in seven counties.

RURAL MINNESOTA BOOSTS SCHALL'S LEAD TO 60,000

CHASE LEADING BURNQUIST BY 30,000 VOTES IN REPUBLICAN GUBERNATORIAL RACE

OLSON IS ASSURED NOMINATION AS FARMER-LABOR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

St. Paul, Minn., June 17.—(U.P.)—Reports from rural Minnesota precincts this afternoon continued to maintain Senator Thomas D. Schall's lead for the republican senatorial nomination in Monday's primary election tabulation.

Political observers who feared that Schall would lose his margin to Governor Theodore Christianson in the county precincts saw only the slightest paring down in the 3 to 2 ratio maintained in the larger cities. With nearly half of the state's 3,701 precincts tabulated, indications were that

How Crow Wing county and Brainerd voted on the state ticket may be learned in detail for the 37 precincts reporting by turning to the table on page 3.

More complete returns on the election in Crow Wing county will be given as quickly as possible following their receipt at the office of the county auditor.

Schall would win by approximately 50,000 to 60,000 votes.

Tabulations from 1,497 precincts showed Schall 101,913, Christianson 63,568, and John F. Selb, who ran on a wet platform, 13,721.

Ray P. Chase, state auditor, was sweeping so far ahead of the field that his nomination as republican gubernatorial candidate was only a matter of tabulating the results, observers said. He led his nearest rival, former Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, by approximately 30,000 votes.

Ernest Lundeen, farmer laborite who sought to take the party's nomination from the convention endorsed candidate, Knud Wefald, held a margin. However, the margin he held in the Twin Cities was being cut down slowly and it was a matter of whether he could gather enough votes to beat out his rival.

Floyd B. Olson, Hennepin county attorney, was assured of nomination as the farmer-labor candidate as governor. He will oppose Chase in the November elections.

A city manager plan submitted to St. Paul voters was defeated by a margin of more than 8,000 votes of the necessary 60 per cent of the citizens balloting.

The vote throughout the state was very light, even in cities and counties where local elections had been expected to bring voters to the polls in heavy numbers.

Reuben G. Thoreen, Stillwater, and State Senator John J. Hougren of Crookston were switching places for the lead in the race for lieutenant governor. Hougren was ahead by less than a thousand votes at the moment with 85,000 votes tabulated.

Henry N. Benson, who was running for re-election as attorney general, had a safe 2 to 1 margin over John C. Larson.

Stafford King, former commander of the Minnesota American Legion, had a slight lead over his nearest opponent, Henry Rines, for state auditor, while other rivals were outclassed.

Frank W. Matson was assured of the republican nomination as railroad and warehouse commissioner in view of the returns up to mid-morning.

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 17. — President Hoover signed the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill today, thereby making it a law. Its new and higher duties on imports will go into effect at all ports of entry at midnight tonight.

In the contest for judge of the 15th judicial district, a three-cornered race, Judge M. E. Ryan of Brainerd is leading, according to incomplete reports received.

The only accurate figures given refer to Crow Wing county where in 31 precincts Judge M. E. Ryan polled 3,131, Frank E. Ebner of Brainerd 1,972 and Alfred L. Thwing of Grand Rapids 338. These 31 precincts out of a total of 54 are from the county, half of the iron range and all of Brainerd.

A report this afternoon received by Judge Ryan's campaign manager indicated Koochiching and Beltrami were recording 2 to 1 for Judge Ryan. Senator Thwing, telephoning the Dispatch in the early morning hours, said 14 precincts in Itasca county gave Mr. Ebner 144, Judge Ryan 306 and Mr. Thwing 1,147.

Judge Ryan is expected to carry Cass county.

Atkinson county voted 1,320 votes for Ryan, 1,225 for Ebner and 713 for Thwing, according to returns from 35 precincts there.

Hill City village, Quadra township and Hill Lake township voted 325 for Thwing, 99 for Ryan and 81 for Ebner.

Ryan went into the supposed Thwing stronghold and captured the majority in Bemidji.

RURAL MINNESOTA BOOSTS SCHALL'S LEAD TO 60,000

CHASE LEADING BURNQUIST BY 30,000 VOTES IN REPUBLICAN GUBERNATORIAL RACE

OLSON IS ASSURED NOMINATION AS FARMER-LABOR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

St. Paul, Minn., June 17.—(U.P.)—Reports from rural Minnesota precincts this afternoon continued to maintain Senator Thomas D. Schall's lead for the republican senatorial nomination in Monday's primary election tabulation.

Political observers who feared that Schall would lose his margin to Governor Theodore Christianson in the county precincts saw only the slightest paring down in the 3 to 2 ratio maintained in the larger cities. With nearly half of the state's 3,701 precincts tabulated, indications were that

How Crow Wing county and Brainerd voted on the state ticket may be learned in detail for the 37 precincts reporting by turning to the table on page 3.

More complete returns on the election in Crow Wing county will be given as quickly as possible following their receipt at the office of the county auditor.

Schall would win by approximately 50,000 to 60,000 votes.

Tabulations from 1,497 precincts showed Schall 101,913, Christianson 63,568, and John F. Selb, who ran on a wet platform, 13,721.

Ray P. Chase, state auditor, was sweeping so far ahead of the field that his nomination as republican gubernatorial candidate was only a matter of tabulating the results, observers said. He led his nearest rival, former Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, by approximately 30,000 votes.

Ernest Lundeen, farmer laborer who sought to take the party's nomination from the convention endorsed candidate, Knud Wefald, held a margin. However, the margin he held in the Twin Cities was being cut down slowly and it was a matter of whether he could gather enough votes to beat out his rival.

Floyd B. Olson, Hennepin county attorney, was assured of nomination as the farmer-labor candidate as governor. He will oppose Chase in the November elections.

A city manager plan submitted to St. Paul voters was defeated by a margin of more than 8,000 votes of the necessary 60 per cent of the citizens balloting.

The vote throughout the state was very light, even in cities and counties where local elections had been expected to bring voters to the polls in heavy numbers.

Reuben G. Thoreen, Stillwater, and State Senator John J. Houghton of Crookston were switching places for the lead in the race for lieutenant governor. Houghton was ahead by less than a thousand votes at the moment with 85,000 votes tabulated.

Henry N. Benson, who was running for re-election as attorney general, had a safe 2 to 1 margin over John C. Larson.

Stafford King, former commander of the Minnesota American Legion, had a slight lead over his nearest opponent, Henry Rines, for state auditor, while other rivals were outclassed.

Frank W. Matson was assured of the republican nomination as railroad and warehouse commissioner in view of the returns up to mid-morning.

'BIG SWORD CAVALRY' OF CHINESE IN ACTION

Peiping, China, June 17.—(U.P.)—The Nationalist government's principal airbase east of Kwetheth, Honan province, was surrounded and captured by the famous "Big Sword Cavalry" of Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang, Feng's headquarters telegraphed today.

Foreign observers confirmed the capture.

With the destruction of the air base, the Nationalist government's air forces along the Lungshai railway were decommissioned.

Freeing the Lawn of Weeds

Weeds present a serious obstacle to the development and upkeep of many lawns. For practical purposes they may be divided into annuals and perennials. The annual group is composed of shepherd's purse chick-weed and crab grass. The perennials are more numerous; dandelion plantain, buckthorn, chick-weed, sorrel, thymus and numerous others. Various methods of control have been tried. Among chemicals, iron sulphate is one of the most valuable. One pound is used to a gallon of water and sprayed on the lawn will kill practically all the broad-leaved weeds, such as dandelions, plantain and others. About three applications are needed during the season and its application is not in the least harmful to the grass.

Mouse chickweed or creeping charlie perfers well drained soils and is best removed by careful weeding; sheep sorrel must be hand weeded. An application of lime will only check its growth. Creeping thyme and ground ivy must be removed by hand.

Iron sulphate is the best method for removing the broad-leaved weeds. It is applied by injecting gasoline into the crown by means of a sharp-pointed can, or touch the crown with a few drops of sulphuric acid. Digging dandelions is not satisfactory for a few of the roots will remain and start new growth.

There is no remedy for quack grass, except to keep the grass cut so that it will not go to seed.

Ants may be treated with carbon bisulphide, dropping into the hills, or with calcium cyanide poured into the opening at the top and sealed. This latter chemical is very effective.

Moss in lawns may be gotten rid of by providing proper drainage, combing the lawn with a rake and dressing it with lime. The raked-out spots should be seeded with a mixture heavy in white clover and the ground dressed annually with acid phosphate.

Brown patch is a fungus disease. It may be corrected by the use of Bordeaux mixture applied at the rate of one pound to every 1,000 square feet. This should be done every three or four days, preferably after a rain.

One of the best methods of keeping your lawn free of weeds is to fertilize heavy and get the turf in such condition that the grass will not give the weeds a chance to grow. This is done best by means of any good commercial fertilizer. Manure, though good, contains many weeds and often adds more than it gives benefit.

bill had precedence on the senate floor today as leaders started a drive to dispose of pending legislation. The house planned to consider minor calendar bills.

Although senate leaders were eager to obtain a final vote on the rivers and harbors bill today, this was threatened by the possibility of lengthy debate on the provisions for diversion of Great Lakes water.

The senate foreign relations committee was called to continue consideration of the London naval treaty. Chairman Borah of the committee hopes that the instrument may be reported to the senate by the end of this week.

The house communist investigating committee planned today to continue its inquiry into alleged subversive activities directed here by the third international.

A short signing ceremony is being arranged at the White House. The ten conferees headed by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee and Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee have been invited to be present. Mr. Hoover is expected to use two pens, one of which will go to Smoot and the other to Hawley.

Forecasts that the new law would increase the government's $600,000,000 customs revenue by $100,000,000 or more were deprecated today by treasury experts. They pointed out the higher rates would probably cause a reduction in imports that would more than offset the increased duties. For this reason, they anticipated a probable reduction in revenue.

Plans to give the controversy regarding secret naval documents precedence over the London treaty when the latter is presented to the senate for ratification were being considered by treaty opponents today.

Senator Shipstead, farmer laborite, Minnesota, is urging that the entire senate should consider the question of the secret documents in special session before taking up the treaty proper. This procedure would fit in with plans of other anti-treaty senators.

CHICAGO POLICE DEPARTMENT IS BEING AIRED

GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE CRIME CONDITIONS IN NEAR FUTURE

THE ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE NAMES A "CRIME CRUSHERS" COMMITTEE

Chicago, June 17.—(AP)—Reorganization of the police department and preparations for an immediate grand jury investigation of crime conditions proceeded rapidly today as powerful forces, set in motion by the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, pressed forward with telling effect.

Pending appointment of a new commissioner of police to take the place of William R. Russell, who resigned yesterday to "give the reformers a chance," Deputy Commissioner John Alcock, "iron man," ruled the department.

New strength was given the Association of Commerce "secret six" committee of millionaire "crime crushers" through a decision to increase the membership of the body from 6 to 16. The Chicago Church Federation, representing half a million citizens, was definitely in the campaign to rid Chicago of crime after appointing a committee to five ministers and five laymen to force a "showdown."

The June grand jury, specially charged by Chief Justice Normoyle of the criminal court to investigate thoroughly all phases of the Lingle slaying, was being counted upon today to bring to light secret coalitions of gangsters and public officials.

And Mr. Hoover Signs

THE Minneapolis Journal carries the following comprehensive editorial viewpoint on the new tariff bill, to which the President this morning affixed his signature. The paper states:

Congress has passed, and President Hoover now says he will sign, a Tariff Bill that is manifestly neither the panacea for economic ills that Senator Watson calls it, nor the Pandora's box of unmitigated evils that most of the Democrats and insurgent Republicans call it. The Bill includes some agricultural rates that are too low, some industrial rates that are too high. It takes from the free list some commodities that should remain there, and leaves on the free list some commodities that should be taken off. Concededly, it comes up neither to the expectations voiced by President Hoover when he called Congress into special session in the spring of 1929, nor to the hopes of an agriculture to which had been promised parity with industry in tariff treatment.

The Bill now lies before the President. For every plea that he sign the measure, he has received probably five pleas that he veto it. He has been advised that he can enhance his own political prestige materially by a veto message. He has been warned that he will court political disaster by signing.

But, regardless of political advice and of political warnings, Mr. Hoover now shows that he is governed by his own best judgment, and by counsels that leave the political situation entirely out of consideration.

He signs the Tariff Bill, because he thinks the revision as written, plus supplemental executive revision under the flexible tariff clause, will on the whole benefit the people of the United States of America, agriculture included. He is swayed neither by those who advise him that he can gain political strength, nor by those who warn him that he will lose political strength by action one way or the other.

In the opinion of the Tariff Commission, and of its economist, Dr. John Lee Coulter, the Bill, even without executive readjustment, promises broad and definite benefits to agriculture. In the opinion of the same authorities, it does not threaten to cause the billion dollar advance in living costs predicted by numerous of its critics, with only a small fraction of the billion going into the pockets of American farmers.

The revised flexible provision of the Bill, on which he insisted and which by a great victory he obtains over Democratic opposition, impresses the President as the longest step toward really scientific tariff making, since the idea of superseding political tariff making with a scientific process was first conceived, away back in the days of the Roosevelt Administration.

Given as a basis for executive readjustment a table of rates that is already an improvement—and from the standpoint of the farmer—over the table of rates in the Fordney-McCumber Act, the President will be able ultimately to place in operation a tariff which will greatly ameliorate the agricultural situation, which will rehabilitate industries whose plight is comparable to agriculture's plight, and which will stimulate, through extension of employment, domestic demand for the products of agriculture.

An additional and important motive for signing the Tariff Bill is the desire to end the suspense which for more than a year has had industry and commerce marking time, and which undoubtedly has contributed materially to the depression in manufacturing, and consequently to the unemployment that has cost agriculture heavily, through a slackening of domestic demand for farm products. The desirability of having it over with impresses the President almost as much as the conviction that a not-so-bad schedule of new rates can be made measurably better by executive action.

After all, however, the test of any tariff act is whether it stimulates or retards prosperity in its actual operation. If the President's signing of the Hawley-Smoot Bill is followed by better times, for the farmer and for everybody else, then the current Democratic and insurgent forecasts of calamity will be as promptly forgotten as have been the dire Democratic prophecies that have greeted every previous Republican tariff revision. Only eight years ago Democrats were calling the Fordney-McCumber Bill "the apotheosis of robbery and infamy." A generation ago other Democratic leaders were saying much the same of the Dingley Bill, whose passage brought prompt recovery from the hard times that had cursed America with bread lines and soup houses, and had substituted corn for coal in the farmer's stove.

A Reforestation Setback

MINNESOTA'S policy for bringing exhausted privately-owned timber lands back into production has been given a setback in the first test to which it has been put since enactment three years ago, says the St. Paul Dispatch. Under a law passed by the Legislature in 1927, and amended in 1929, the Weyerhaeuser Company sought to put 175,000 acres of cut-over land into an auxiliary forest at a lower tax rate for purposes of reforestation. Commissioners of St. Louis County, where the land is located, vetoed the proposal by refusing to reduce the levy.

Cut-over lands which are left lying idle usually become tax delinquent property and seriously reduces the revenue sources of counties which have large deforested areas. Timber is the logical crop for such lands, but the long period required for maturity discourages investment. A heavy tax burden is one obstacle. It was to remove this obstacle that statutory provisions were made to reduce the taxes on private land on which a timber crop was raised.

These auxiliary forests lessen the taxes which can be levied by the counties in which they are located during the period that the crop is maturing. However, when the timber eventually is cut ten per cent of the yield becomes tax revenue. St. Louis County was merely asked to temporarily forego taxes that would eventually be returned. Nor is the alternative a pleasant one. Such cut-over land, unless converted into auxiliary forests, will likely remain tax delinquent.

St. Louis County prefers delinquent land to a temporary tax reduction that will eventually restore an important industry. If other counties take a similarly short-sighted view, little hope is left for encouraging reforestation of private lands. That restricts the prospect of converting cut-over areas into timber yielding land to state-owned forest property.

Thus the burden of reforestation is put entirely upon the people of Minnesota. It is left to the public to provide for its own future timber supply on its own land, without the help of private interests. The State is inadequately equipped with a policy to meet this need. The demand becomes stronger for Minnesota to take reforestation seriously.

FLOOD WATERS

CLAIM 10th VICTIM

IN TEXAS TODAY

San Angelo, Tex., June 17.—(U.P.)—Flood waters had claimed their tenth victim in Texas today with the death of Franz Zealand, who was drowned near here while trying to ford the swollen Devil river on horseback.

Other streams in Texas were receding today after leaving their banks to inundate thousands of acres of farm land and cause property damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Oklahoma City, June 17.—(U.P.)—Thousands of acres of farm land remained under water today as rivers and streams, swollen from torrential rains, began to recede.

NEGOTIATE WITH MAHATMA GANDHI TO CALM REVOLT

HOPE TO STILL INDEPENDENCE
MOVEMENT WHICH HAS DIS-
RUPTED INDIA

SEVERAL OUTBREAKS OCCUR IN
SCATTERED SECTIONS
OF BOMBAY

By FRANCIS LOW
(United Press Correspondent)

Bombay, India, June 17.—Negotiations with the Mahatma Gandhi for settlement of the India independence movement which has disrupted the entire peninsula since April, were reported today from Poona.

Sir Prabasanker Pattani, of Bhavnagar state, went to the Poona jail where the Mahatma has been imprisoned since May 5, to discuss terms for a compromise. Pattani, who is a personal friend of Gandhi, was understood to be acquainted with the terms on which the government would agree to negotiate with the leaders of the Satyagraha (passive resistance) movement.

Pattani was understood to have considerable influence over Gandhi, having talked at length with the independence leader before Gandhi started his march to the sea where he violated British law by making contraband salt.

The absence of excessive violence in the campaign for India independence quieted the fears of European residents.

Several outbreaks occurred in scattered sections of Bombay and several times native police were forced to charge against passive resisters to quell demonstrations yesterday, but at no time did the situation become serious enough to warrant summoning the numerous bodies of troops which are stationed here.

Approximately 60 were injured throughout the day in various police attempts to end picketing of liquor and foreign cloth shops, which has been made a penal offense by Viceroy Lord Irwin's ordinance.

Sixty others were arrested, and of that number 51 were sentenced to four months each for picketing.

An American journalist, who gave his name as Roswell Russell, was caught by police after a chase and accused of inciting native rioters. Russell denied the charge.

First Waltz Tune?

VOTE ON WET AND DRY ISSUE IN NEW JERSEY

WETS AND LUKEWARMES ARE SUPPORTING DWIGHT W.
MORROW

Newark, N. J., June 17.—(U.P.)—The wet and dry issue within the republican party of New Jersey was being settled by the voters today at the statewide senatorial primary.

Wets and a large section of those whose views are not strong one way or another on prohibition, are supporting Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico. Opposing him as a bone dry is Franklin W. Fort of Camden, now a member of congress. Between the two, depending largely upon his admitted personal strength, is former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen.

New Jersey is generally considered a wet state.

NEGOTIATE WITH MAHATMA GANDHI TO CALM REVOLT

HOPE TO STILL INDEPENDENCE
MOVEMENT WHICH HAS DIS-
RUPTED INDIA

SEVERAL OUTBREAKS OCCUR IN
SCATTERED SECTIONS
OF BOMBAY

By FRANCIS LOW
(United Press Correspondent)

Bombay, India, June 17.—Negotiations with the Mahatma Gandhi for settlement of the India independence movement which has disrupted the entire peninsula since April, were reported today from Poona.

Sir Pradasanker Pattani, of Bhavnagar state, went to the Poona jail where the Mahatma has been imprisoned since May 5, to discuss terms for a compromise. Pattani, who is a personal friend of Gandhi, was understood to be acquainted with the terms on which the government would agree to negotiate with the leaders of the Satyagraha (passive resistance) movement.

Pattani was understood to have considerable influence over Gandhi, having talked at length with the independence leader before Gandhi started his march to the sea where he violated British law by making contraband salt.

The absence of excessive violence in the campaign for India independence quieted the fears of European residents.

Several outbreaks occurred in scattered sections of Bombay and several times native police were forced to charge against passive resisters to quell demonstrations yesterday, but at no time did the situation become serious enough to warrant summoning the numerous bodies of troops which are stationed here.

Approximately 60 were injured throughout the day in various police attempts to end picketing of liquor and foreign cloth shops, which has been made a penal offense by Viceroys Lord Irwin's ordinance.

Sixty others were arrested, and of that number 51 were sentenced to four months each for picketing.

An American journalist, who gave his name as Roswell Russell, was caught by police after a chase and accused of inciting native rioters. Russell denied the charge.

CLEVELAND AND WASHINGTON ARE NOW PACE SETTERS

MAKE BIDS FOR FIRST PLACE IN AMERICAN RACE

GOLFERS COMPETE FOR PLACES AT INTERLACHEN

LEAGUE IS CLOSING INTERSECTIONAL COMPETITION IN THE WESTERN AREA

THIRD CLUB, NEW YORK, HOPES TO MOVE UP FROM BOTTOM OF FIRST DIVISION

(By United Press)

Cleveland and Washington—two of the pace setters in the American League's turbulent pennant race—today made bids for first place as the American League clubs closed intersectional competition in the west. A third club—New York—hoped to close its western invasion by moving up from the bottom of first division.

Philadelphia's Athletics, leaders, were idle today and, with less than a game and a half separating the four first division teams, many changes were possible.

The Athletics' lead was cut to half a game yesterday when Detroit defeated Philadelphia, 9 to 8. Washington scored eight runs in the last three innings to defeat St. Louis, 9 to 7, and move into a tie with Cleveland for second place.

The Yankees-Indians game at Cleveland was rained out.

Ted Lyons' wild pitch with the bases filled in the seventh enabled Boston to break a 2 to 2 tie and Oliver's double drove in two more runs to give the Red Sox a 6 to 3 decision over Chicago.

Brooklyn held its 3½-game lead in the National League, defeating St. Louis, 5 to 3.

Charley Grimm's home run with the bases filled in the ninth neutralized five Giants' homers and the Chicago Cubs beat New York, 8 to 5.

Philadelphia pounded out 20 hits to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 18 to 14. Wally Berger's 18th home run of the season saved the Boston Braves from a shutout, as the Cincinnati Reds pounded Grimes and Cunningham for an 11 to 1 victory.

There were no American Association games scheduled yesterday.

VON PORAT-STIBLING POSTPONED TO FRIDAY

Chicago, June 17.—(U.P.)—The ten-round heavyweight bout between Otto Von Porat and Young Stibling which was to have taken place here tomorrow night has been postponed until Friday, Chicago Stadium officials announced here this afternoon.

A slight injury to Stibling's hand prompted the Illinois athletic commission to allow him an additional two days for recovery, the announcement said.

New York, June 17.—The scheduled 10-round lightweight bout between Tony Canzoneri, Brooklyn, and Tommy Grogan, Omaha, Neb., was postponed until next Tuesday night at the Queensboro arena because of rain. Canzoneri weighed 131 3-4, Grogan 136 1-4.

TEAM PLAYS TWICE AT WALKER MEET

BRAINERD BALL CLUB TO MEET WALKER WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY IN CONVENTION GAMES

The Brainerd baseball team will leave for Walker Wednesday morning where they will clash with the Walker city team in two games to be played during the American Legion convention.

The following players will make the trip: Loom, Peterson, Nutting, Erickson, Swanson, Uddenberg, Schwendeman, Fogelstrom, Ringer, Richmond, Jarboe, Hanson.

Jarboe will hurl the opening game Wednesday with Richmond or Swanson doing mound duty Thursday.

"Roads" and "Streets"

The English word "road" probably comes from the old English "rad," compounded from a verb meaning to ride a horse, while our word "street" comes from the Latin strata, a paved way, one of those streets of beautifully matched stones which the modern traveler may still see, with the ruts made by the chariot wheels of the vanished citizens, in Pompeii and Herculaneum.—New York Times.

UNITED STATES OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT TO BE PLAYED AT INTERLACHEN JULY 10-12

New York, June 17.—(U.P.)—While Bobby Jones, Leo Diegel and other American golf aces were playing in the qualifying rounds of the British open golf tournament, 1140 of their less prominent countrymen competed for the 112 vacant places in the United States Open Golf Tournament to be played at Interlachen Country Club, Hopkins, Minn., July 10-12.

The stars competing abroad and the 30 low scorers in the 1929 open were exempt from qualifying. These exemptions, totalling 38, left 112 places in the field of 150 for the 1930 National Open and these vacancies were filled by the qualifying rounds at the 20 district centers.

Benny Coltrin, of Oakland, Cal., won medalist honors for the entire nation, scoring a 140 to win one of the San Francisco district's two qualifying places.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, who led the qualifiers in 1929 and later came along to defeat Bobby Jones in the first round of the National Open, turned in a 141 to tie for second honors with Jock Collins, Dayton, O., professional, and Sid Harmon of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Many prominent stars failed to survive the qualifying rounds.

Play-offs for positions were necessary in two centers, Pittsburgh and Atlanta.

The qualifiers in the St. Paul district were:

St. Paul (8)—
Lester Bolstad, Minneapolis—147.
Willie Kidd, Minneapolis—150.

Art Walker, Interlachen—150.
Art Tveraa, Minneapolis—150.
Thomas Vardon, White Bear—151.

Chicago, June 17.—(U.P.)—The business of pugilism has picked up in Chicago to the extent that some 14,000 persons already have paid in advance approximately $50,000 to see Otto Von Porat and Young Stibling fight here tomorrow night and Chicago stadium officials today were of the opinion that the show will be a "sell-out."

ART SHIRES IS VERY OPTIMISTIC

THE SENATORS AND A CHANCE TO GET INTO THE WORLD SERIES," SAYS HE

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, June 17.—"Oh, boy! The Senators and a chance to go into the world's series! Watch my smoke now! Move down you other clubs and make room for Washington at the top."

Art Shires speaking. Not the Art who has gone about his baseball duties silently this year after being "squashed by order which kinda took the pep out of me," but the fiery Art of last year full of pepper and confidence and ready "to give everything I've got to help the Senators win a pennant."

Elated at being traded to Washington, a possible pennant winner, the Chicago White Sox first baseman today, for the first time in months, was the young fellow with the smile "who never has hit under .300 and never will."

When Shires heard that the Sox had sent him to Washington for Pitcher Braxton and Catcher Tate he made no attempt to hide his satisfaction.

"Boy, that's a break," he said, "the first good one I've had all season. I felt bad at the start of the season when I thought I was given less money than I should have received and otherwise squashed. I don't know whether that affected my mechanical playing or not but I do know it affected the old pepper for a fellow doesn't feel very lively when he thinks he's getting less than he should be earning."

TURN CARBON INTO POWER

AT DEEP-ROCK STATIONS

Drive with KANT-NOCK-ETHYL and forget that old carbon "bogey." All gasolines form more or less carbon, and ordinary gasolines permit the carbon to rob your engine of power. But KANT-NOCK-ETHYL makes carbon deposits increase your power!

That's why you get such amazing pick-up, such a strong pull on heavy roads, such speed on the straight-away... that's why you have less gear-shifting with KANT-NOCK-ETHYL. It "knocks out that knock"... completely!

Ask any Deep-Rock service salesman to show you why these specifications are important... why KANT-NOCK-ETHYL tends to reduce upkeep expense.

And ask him about Certified Deep-Rock Prize Motor Oil... the only oil that comes sealed in a steel drum, registered by number, guaranteed as pure as the day it left the Deep-Rock refinery. New York, June 17.—(U.P.)—While Bobby Jones, Leo Diegel and other American golf aces were playing in the qualifying rounds of the British open golf tournament, 1140 of their less prominent countrymen competed for the 112 vacant places in the United States Open Golf Tournament to be played at Interlachen Country Club, Hopkins, Minn., July 10-12.

The stars competing abroad and the 30 low scorers in the 1929 open were exempt from qualifying. These exemptions, totalling 38, left 112 places in the field of 150 for the 1930 National Open and these vacancies were filled by the qualifying rounds at the 20 district centers.

Benny Coltrin, of Oakland, Cal., won medalist honors for the entire nation, scoring a 140 to win one of the San Francisco district's two qualifying places.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, who led the qualifiers in 1929 and later came along to defeat Bobby Jones in the first round of the National Open, turned in a 141 to tie for second honors with Jock Collins, Dayton, O., professional, and Sid Harmon of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Many prominent stars failed to survive the qualifying rounds.

Play-offs for positions were necessary in two centers, Pittsburgh and Atlanta.

The qualifiers in the St. Paul district were:

St. Paul (8)—
Lester Bolstad, Minneapolis—147.
Willie Kidd, Minneapolis—150.

Art Walker, Interlachen—150.
Art Tveraa, Minneapolis—150.
Thomas Vardon, White Bear—151.
Dow George, Minneapolis—151.
Bim Lovkin, Minneapolis—152.
Jock Henrick, St. Paul—152.

PUGILISTIC WORK PICKING UP IN CHICAGO NOW

Chicago, June 17.—(U.P.)—The business of pugilism has picked up in Chicago to the extent that some 14,000 persons already have paid in advance approximately $50,000 to see Otto Von Porat and Young Stirling fight here tomorrow night and Chicago stadium officials today were of the opinion that the show will be a "sell-out."

Virginia's "Fairy Stones"

The staurolites, better known as fairy stones, are found in a field of about fifty acres on top of Bull mountain, Patrick county, Virginia. They are twinned staurolite crystals simulating the Roman, Maltese and St. Andrew's crosses. The original staurolite mineral has changed to a compact, softer material so that the stones can readily be prepared for the jewelry trade.

ART SHIRES IS VERY OPTIMISTIC

"THE SENATORS AND A CHANCE TO GET INTO THE WORLD SERIES," SAYS HE

By BERT DEMBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, June 17.—"Oh, boy! The Senators and a chance to go into the world's series! Watch my smoke now! Move down you other clubs and make room for Washington at the top."

Art Shires speaking. Not the Art who has gone about his baseball duties silently this year after being "squelched" by order which kinda took the pep out of me," but the fiery Art of last year full of pepper and confidence and ready "to give everything I've got to help the Senators win a pennant."

Elated at being traded to Washington, a possible pennant winner, the Chicago White Sox first baseman today, for the first time in months, was the young fellow with the smile "who never has hit under .300 and never will."

When Shires heard that the Sox had sent him to Washington for Pitcher Braxton and Catcher Tate he made no attempt to hide his satisfaction.

"Boy, that's a break," he said, "the first good one I've had all season. I felt bad at the start of the season when I thought I was given less money than I should have received and otherwise squelched. I don't know whether that affected my mechanical playing or not but I do know it affected the old pepper for a fellow doesn't feel very lively when he thinks he's getting less than he should be earning."

TURN CARBON INTO POWER

Drive with KANT-NOCK-ETHYL and forget that old carbon "bogey." All gasolines form more or less carbon, and ordinary gasolines permit the carbon to rob your engine of power. But KANT-NOCK-ETHYL makes carbon deposits increase your power!

That's why you get such amazing pick-up, such a strong pull on heavy roads, such speed on the straight-away . . . that's why you have less gear-shifting with KANT-NOCK-ETHYL. It "knocks out that knock" . . . completely!

Ask any Deep-Rock service salesman to show you why these specifications are important . . . why KANT-NOCK-ETHYL tends to reduce upkeep expense.

And ask him about Certified Deep-Rock Prize Motor Oil . . . the only oil that comes sealed in a steel drum, registered by number, guaranteed as pure as the day it left the Deep-Rock refinery. Have him show you why the 100% pure paraffine base crude from which it is refined, makes Certified Deep-Rock Prize Motor Oil a truly better lubricant for your motor.

COUNCIL TO PROBE CAMP LAND RENTAL

Committee of Three to Investigate Before Sanctioning Rental of Tourist Camp

STREET VACATION LOST

Council Hopes Arbitration May be Reached by Residents of First Street

Rather than act on it immediately the council last evening appointed the city property committee, Aldermen Frank Johnson, W. J. Lyons and V. F. Anderson to give a report at the next meeting regarding the proposed rental of the tourist park to Carl Wright.

Mr. Wright resigned recently from the park board that he might purchase land adjoining and part of the land now used by the city park board for tourist camp purposes.

Hugo Kaatz and Mrs. A. C. Weber, members of the board appeared before the council and asked the council to sanction the rental of the tourist camp to Mr. Wright for $400 a year.

It was explained that Mr. Wright was constructing tourist cabins on his land which includes part of the property used by the park board but not owned by the city.

Although the resolution by Aldermen W. J. Hall and W. J. Lyons that 20 feet be vacated on the east side of First street between Ivy and Juniper streets reserving an easement of six feet for sewer, sidewalk and water purposes, carried by a five to four majority, the resolution was declared lost since rulings by the city charter declare that a two thirds majority is necessary.

Voting in favor of the vacation were: Aldermen H. W. Creger, W. J. Hall, Elmer Lee, W. J. Lyons and Ernest Ritari while opposing it were Aldermen V. F. Anderson, Chris Elvig, Frank Johnson and V. E. Quastrom.

When the resolution was declared lost the council members expressed the belief that arbitration might be reached by the residents of First street regarding the vacation of part of the street and that their plan might be presented to the council at a later date.

R. W. Brecht was granted a license to operate a pop corn wagon in Brainerd. He submitted his check for $50 covering the license.

A license to build a drive in filling station for the operation of two pumps on the corner of Kingwood and Eighth streets was granted Howard E. Dougherty.

On motion of Aldermen Ritari and Hall the county was permitted to grace Ash avenue from Mill avenue to 12th avenue before tarvaing the road to Lum Park.

ROOSEVELT

A car accident happened Sunday noon on the Dewing highway on the other side of Camp Lake. Evelyn Brand and Mrs. Munger's little girl were injured, bruised up about the face. They were rushed to Brainerd to a doctor.

Miss Frances Schellin and Miss Anna Mae Coffield were to Rev. Heidtke's church Saturday morning.

A group of the Sunday school people motored to South Long Lake Sunday.

Mrs. Ernest Brand motored to Dykeman Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hound and family of Platte Lake were Pine Center callers Sunday.

Mrs. Bert Cooley has been laid up with a sore foot the past week. It was getting better later.

Frank Groshan and Ernest Brand were business callers in Brainerd Saturday.

Mrs. Archie Coffield and daughter Anna Mae called on Mrs. John Heinmiller one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brand were callers at Mrs. Louis Schellin Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mildred Cooley called at the Coffield home Saturday.

Archie and Earl Coffield and Mr. Russell were Brainerd business callers last week.

DYKEMAN

Albert Treichler was a Pine Center caller on Friday.

Clayton Dykeman, road maintenance man has been working on the roads.

We are all pleased to see the rain. It will be a great benefit to the crops. Brainerd callers last week were John Schley, E. Husbok, Jack Persson, T. Dykeman and Fred Davis.

The Home Management club met at the home of Mrs. T. G. Dykeman's Friday afternoon. A very interesting meeting was enjoyed by 33 members and visitors. The report on check up day was very interesting.

The group decided on taking up the "Orchard" as the project between Home Management I and II. The next meeting is to be held in the near future. After the meeting a shower was given for Mrs. Forest Dykeman followed by a delicious luncheon served by the hostess.

The 4-H club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Treichler on Thursday evening. A large crowd was present. The meeting was very enjoyable. The next meeting is to be held at Mr. and Mrs. John Schley's.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Langdon and Mr. and Mrs. Colin Peter and daughter were supper guests at T. Dykeman's Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Dykeman accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Langdon of Brainerd motored to Superior, Wis., on Sunday. Mrs. Dykeman's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bassett and family of Ironwood, Mich., met them at Superior where they later enjoyed a picnic dinner and visit. Thomas, Audrey and Alice, sister and brother of Mrs. Dykeman's accompanied them back for a visit.

We all have our sympathy and sorrow for Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Treichler whose home burned down Saturday morning. A large crowd gathered to help put out the fire but it had too large a start before help could get there.

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER LI.

THE party broke up and Eve gave Nory a wan little smile of gratitude. "You made it realistic, Nory. Made them all think you in love with me."

"Why shouldn't I?" he asked in a low, blurry tone. "Why shouldn't I, Eve?"

He let her go home alone because she asked this. There would be a quarrel with Ken—she felt this in her bones—and wished to brace herself. He had gone to Hilltop House; perhaps he would remain late. The clash might be put off till tomorrow. She felt dizzy and ill as she let herself into the bungalow, sat down to wait.

But Ken came almost at once, stood there white and furious. "So you had to go butting in again. Messing things all over creation." "Someone had to do something, Ken. You pay no attention to dead lines at all. I only wanted your stuff to get out."

"You knew how I felt about those sketches. A damn shame a woman has got to run a man—oh, a damn shame."

Tiredly, without rancor, Eve got up, went into the bedroom. She moved her things into the guest chamber across the hall, locked the door and went to bed.

Ken was coldly polite in the morning. It put Eve all in the wrong, that chill contemptuous dignity of Ken's; shut her away from him, made her a stranger.

She was beyond feeling this keenly, however. She understood only one thing; that she had failed as Ken's wife. Not all her fault—Ken was not born to be a husband. He was not meant to be head of a household and family. And this was not his fault either. Ken was made differently from such men as the uncles for example, Roger Mills, Jimmy Stewart. He was not finer necessarily, but different.

Mary had told her long ago that this was so. "They're wonderful, some of them, in their way, but it isn't our way. Alien species—I doubt if we ever actually get to know them. They think differently, of course, or there'd be no art or music or novels—and so they have to act differently, too. The thing is that the two kinds just can't mix—our kind and theirs—"

Mary said this the first night Ken came to see her, when Eve was all a thrill with the wonder of him, the glory of dawning love. And Eve made light of it because she thought a high and holy love leveled all differences. What a kid she had been, flying in the face of things no one could understand!

When her thoughts roiled around to this point it brought her up against something that puzzled her.

Nory was a real artist in his own line, more of an artist than was Ken. Yet Nory possessed little temperament, no self-centeredness. Why was this?

She could not answer the question. Yet slowly a conclusion suggested itself. Not his work but vanity—egotism, selfishness—made Ken as he was. He saw only himself, never regarded the han-ness or well-being of others as dependent upon him. A child at heart. Grown up in years and stature but a baby inside.

Often and often she had thought of him as a big kid—thought of him so with tenderness. Now she saw this had been one reason for her failure, that she had done nothing to bring him to realization of the fact that life was a serious proposition and not to be played for the thrill that was in it while problems all were shifted to another's shoulders.

They sat at the breakfast table both rather white, speaking sometimes of things that did not matter—the first signs of Spring in warm pockets of the valleys, a new record in aviation established by a California girl, the astonishing new leaf turned by Jan and Clay.

"A hell of a marriage that will ants telephoned from Hilltop House. Eve imagined the message saying that Lilas would not come; she heard Ken raging at the telephone, demanding speech with Miss Allan.

"What's up?" he asked at last in a different, softer tone. And later, consternation creeping through his voice: "But there's only one more picture in the series—two or three sittings at most. . . . Atlantic City? But couldn't you wait a few days? Just a few days?"

Eve went into the kitchen and closed the door so she needn't listen to more. A new note in the siren song. Lilas pretending she was going away, going through the motions of a rush to Atlantic City, impressing upon Ken how necessary she was to him. Ah, the poor kid, dangling at the end of a string!

She Heard Ken Raging on the Telephone

Ken said, "Jan hovering like an old hen, bossing him around, and Clay watching a chance to break over."

"Yes—a great mistake for a woman to hover." Was there a double edge to Ken's remark? He had accused her of bossing—was he deliberately repeating the charge?

Ken's eyes were on his plate; he looked chilled and distant—leagues, aeons, eternities distant. She might put out her hand to touch his arms, possibly feel his kiss on her hair, hear him whisper. "Ah, well, sweetheart—ah, well—"

And still they would be worlds apart, separated supremely, hopelessly.

She got up, began to clear the table, going about with lagging steps. Nothing seemed real to her; she moved within an infinitude of desolation filled with phantoms, dream shapes which came and went. But sometimes small lightning flashes of pain struck through the mists and these were real enough. Only pain was real!

Lilas was later than usual this morning; eventually one of the ser-

A fierce sense of protection surged up in her. At that moment she would have snatched him away from anything so obvious—a thing that only he could not see through.

Yet in the next instant she realized there was nothing she could do. If she were to tell him exactly how things stood he would not believe her; he would turn colder, more polite.

Through the kitchen window she saw him hurry out to the garage, shrugging into his coat on the way. Lilas had allowed herself to be persuaded to remain. Of course—of course! Only now Ken must come to her. Raw Spring winds—she must avoid those—and Ken could work just as well in her studio.

Almost Eve could hear the low drawl, see the mocking green eyes. If Lilas hadn't told him this it had been something else quite as shoddy. And Ken had swallowed it whole; he would be grateful to her for giving up the trip. . . . And he had gone away without so much as a word.

To Be Continued.

Brazilian City's Elevator

Bahia, in northern Brazil, has an elevator tower containing two elevators to bring people from the plateau to the level of the bay. The city is built on two levels, and each elevator has a capacity of 27 passengers and speed of 700 feet a minute, which means that nearly 4,000 passengers an hour can be carried the distance of 105 feet which separates the two parts of the city.

English Delicacy

Clotted cream is what is known as Devonshire cream in England. It is made by taking rich milk, placing it in a vessel and heating it to 175 degrees Fahrenheit. This will cause the cream to rise to the surface, where it can be skimmed off. In England this is sold in small earthenware jars, and is considered a great delicacy, to be served with fruit or cereal.

"Weakest to the Wall"

The expression, "The weakest goes to the wall," dates from the Middle Ages. In those days churches lacked pews, and the congregation stood on the rush-strewn floor of the nave throughout the service. Along the wall ran a low stone seat, which was used by the aged and infirm. The seats which gave rise to the expression may still be seen in some churches.

Wickersham Dry Law May Indicate Change in President Hoover's Attitude

George W. Wickersham, former Attorney-General of the United States, appointed by President Hoover as chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission, has given the "die-hard" drys a staggering blow in his recent criticism of prohibition enforcement during a speech at Boston, Mass. Wets and drys are now wondering if he acted as spokesman for President Hoover, and the rumor has started that Mr. Hoover has greatly changed his views on "the noble experiment." Mr. Wickersham is shown above before the committee to whom he presented investigation of dry law enforcement.

aeons, eternities distant. She might put out her hand, touch his

sleeve; she might fling herself into

his arms, possibly feel his kiss on her hair, hear him whisper. "Ah,

well, sweetheart—ah, well—"

And still they would be worlds apart, separated supremely, hopelessly.

She got up, began to clear the table, going about with lagging steps. Nothing seemed real to her;

she moved within an infinitude of desolation filled with phantoms, dream shapes which came and went. But sometimes small lightning flashes of pain struck through the mists and these were real enough. Only pain was real!

Lilas was later than usual this

Ken's eyes were on his plate; he looked chilled and distant—leagues, aeons, eternities distant. She might put out her hand, touch his

sleeve; she might fling herself into

his arms, possibly feel his kiss on her hair, hear him whisper. "Ah,
